

Introducing our new Norfolk and Waveney

Legacy Mentors

Legacy Healthcare Support Worker: Andrew Saunders

I originally qualified as an Osteopath in 1991 working in private practice for 10 years before joining the British Army as a Combat Medical Technician.

On leaving the British Army as a medic in June 2022 I joined the Norfolk and Waveney Reservist Scheme where I worked as a vaccinator and an HCA the NNUH and JPUH hospitals in both the wards and ED.

I was offered the post as a Legacy Mentor responsible for Health Care Support Worker retention in February 2023. The often overlooked HCSW role is so important within the NHS that it makes my role as a Legacy Mentoring all the more rewarding.
